No Stress: Ibrahim Kamara '05 is open to the world and takes life one day at a time, with intention

"Time to play and run on the wood chip field every day at Miquon was the simplest and yet happiest moments of my life," says alumnus Ibrahim Kamara '05.

"I was so young, and not cerebral or thinking of what it meant to play in the creek or what was really involved with all the countless plays we produced over the years. But I owe so much of my deliberate, laissez-faire attitude to Miquon.”

Although Kamara’s approach may be hands-off, he has accomplished quite a bit in the few years since graduating from Franklin & Marshall College. To get his feet wet, he worked closely with the partners in a small legal firm, and calls the experience “great.”

After about 18 months, he was flown to San Francisco for a morning of interviews, his first time in that part of the country. Although he did not get the job, “I had seen the other side of the curtain and was convinced I needed to be in the tech space.”

Later, after more interviews with Google and Dropbox, he landed his current position as a member of the legal investigations team for Google in Austin, TX.

Building a Life on a Strong Foundation: Olivia Khalili '92

Her Miquon education prepared Olivia Khalili (nee Kuhn-Lloyd) '92 well for Germantown Friends School and then the University of Pennsylvania, where she earned her bachelor’s degree in International Relations and Diplomatic History, with a minor in French.

She worked in international trade at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C., and later, moved to Los Angeles--where she joined a small consulting firm and worked with nonprofits and foundations. She then joined a small start-up business built around providing content about wellness and healthy living.

“Working in multiple sectors gave me an understanding of each sector’s strengths and weaknesses and the elements that resonated with me personally,” Olivia explains.

“From that, I developed a philosophy for work that combines business with social impact that I’ve followed ever since.”

Hey Fellow Alums!

Check out what I found when I was going through some old files recently: My Class Of 1984 Miquon Yearbook!! True to the times, it looks like we each got a color xerox copy of the book — held together with a simple paper clamp!

Who else out there still has their Miquon Yearbook? If you can find it, post pics of it here. We'd love to see them! ❤️
